Growing up on a family farm, I had the privilege of participating in various aspects of agricultural work, particularly within our dairy and piggery units. This early exposure has provided me with a solid foundation in livestock management, animal welfare, and the daily operations essential to maintaining a productive and healthy farm environment.

Beyond technical skills, my work ethic is characterized by reliability, teamwork, and a genuine passion for animal husbandry. I thrive in the collaborative environment of a farm, where every team member's contribution is vital to our collective success.
